Day 2

Day 02: Delhi

Morning have breakfast at hotel. Later proceed for the sightseeing of Delhi and start with the drive past of The Red Fort, also known as Lal Qila, was built by the Mughal emperor Shah Jahan between 1638 and 1648, after he shifted his capital from Agra to Delhi. Then visit Jama Masjid, the largest mosque in India, Jama Masjid rivals the grandeur of the neighbouring Red Fort in its scale and beauty. Later take a trip to Chandni Chowk, nothing short of an adventure—the market is one of the oldest in Delhi and is a treasure trove of goods ranging from bridal wear to electronics. You'll have to manoeuvre through labyrinthine narrow alleys—divided into bazaars selling specific goods—so it's best if you tag along with a local who has a good feel for the place. Then drive to New Delhi and drive past India Gate, on Paris' Arc de Triomphe, this British-era archway is synonymous with Delhi. It was originally built as a memorial to the Indian soldiers who lost their lives during the 1st world-war and other government building like President's House, Parliament etc. The visit Humayun's Tomb, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, this garden tomb is considered to be the finest example of Mughal architecture before the Taj Mahal. Built in 1565 AD. Also visit Qutub Minar, medieval victory tower is named after Qutabuddin Aibak, who laid its foundations in 1193 AD. Over 73 meters high, the tower has five-storey. Evening is free at leisure. Stay overnight at the hotel.

Day 09: Lucknow

Morning have breakfast at hotel. Later we visit the architectural marvel of age, La Martiniere School which was designed by the Frenchman Major-General Claude Martin as a palatial home. Then we visit Dilkusha Palace & Gardens - This palace was built by a European architect for the Nawab - Sadat Ali Khan. The palace and gardens were used as a country house and hunting lodge by the Nawab and his begums. Driving past Sadat Ali Tomb & 'Chatar Manzil' – a part of this palace was built by a French architect, Claude Martin (as this palace has restricted entry we can see it from outside from within the car) we now enter the gateway of world's most unique architecture, 'Asifi Imambara'. This monument was built as a relief measure for a devastating famine, in order to provide employment to the subjects of the state by Nawab Asif-ud-Daula'. Also see the 'Rumi Darwaza' or the Turkish Gate and the Asfi Mosque. We now reach the Husainabad Complex - The Clock Tower is the highest Clock Tower in Asia and in some ways superior to its counterpart, 'Big Ben'. Now enter the Babylon of East, The Husainabad Imambara - known for its beauty and pieces of décor. This was built in 1840 by Mohammad Ali Shah and is still considered to be a sacred address by the natives. Later we reach The Lucknow Residency a place where speechless walls are known to speak the gruesome tale of the 1857 mutiny. The sprawling British campus witnessed nothing less than 3000 deaths to keep the Union Jack flying. Yet the British could not defend their domain and the buildings were lost to the high spirited and enthusiastic Indians who fought till their last breath. Stay overnight at hotel.
